Where the Lost Boys Go

11:11 Theatre Company proudly presents the World Premiere of Where the Lost Boys Go, written by Artistic Director Brian Tuttle, as the third play of their 2006-2007 season, Magic Happens. Performances will take place at The Stanford Calderwood Pavilion at the Boston Center for the Arts at 8pm on March 16th, 17th, 23rd, 24th and March 18th at 3pm.

Artistic Director, Brian Tuttle, has made it the company's mission to bring exciting new works to the Boston stage.

"11:11 loves doing world premieres. New work is so alive. Seeing that audience's first reaction is an incredible rush. New theatre is dangerous and we love that. " –Brian Tuttle.

His latest work "Where the Lost Boys Go" poses the question "What happens to a dreamer when he grows up?" At 66 years old, Owen is still an endless adventurer who surrounds himself with youth. After retirement his many travels have landed him back at his home in Boston. In only 24 hours his world will be turned upside down and altered forever as a new and unforgettable chapter of his life unfolds...

Tickets are $20 for adults, $17.50 for seniors and students with an ID, and can be purchased at the door or in advance at www.BostonTheatreScene.com.
